

....would you like ice with that?

If you're looking for a job in hospitality, and want to work in a licensed venue, then you'll need to get yourself ready.

In NSW, you must have completed an approved course in the Responsible Service of Alcohol (RSA) before you can be involved in the sale, supply or service of liquor.

But there's no need to panic.

TAFE NSW runs RSA courses to help you get the start you need.

You can complete your training in just six hours, through either face to face or distance learning and it's all been approved by the Liquor Administration Board (LAB).

For more information, call the TAFE PLUS Enquiry Service on 1300 131 499, or visit our website www.tafeplus.com

Set aside one day and you're on your way!